

SIXTH FORM BEHAVIOUR POLICY CONTRACT

For Sixth Form students, the expectations are higher than for other students to reflect their status as young adults and as role-models. They will be treated more severely than other students (for example, for being persistently late).

- Ensure work set for cancelled lessons is completed.
- Follow agreed procedures to report any absence.

Misbehaviour in the Sixth Form is considered to be a persistent breach of any of the above points. In particular, please note that poor attendance, lateness, or submitting work of poor effort are considered disciplinary breaches of the School Behaviour Policy.
